The availability of Mr. Hughes might be greatly enhanced if by next year the problems confronting the country are foreign rather than in the domestic field preempted by Her-as we all do, that it has been only through such sacrifices as these that man has mastered the mysteries of the car, the sail, steam, electricity

Proposals Outlined After Long Study by Capt.
Whitehurst.

GRABILL IS SLATED
FOR $3,800 POST

Other Changes in Personnel Contemplated in Scheme for Reorganization.

Plans for a thorough reorganization and revision of methods of the highway division of the District government were announced yesterday following an intensive study lasting several months by Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, assistant to the Engineer Commissioner, with the cooperation of C. B. Hunt, engineer of highways. Centralization of responsibility for major functions is the principle underlying the new plan.

A new position to be known as engineering of maintenance will be created at $3,800 a year, to be filled by promoting R. Grabill, who was superintendent of suburban roads at $3,500. He will have charge, under Hunt, of all maintenance work connected with the District's system of highways.

Under him will be a superintendent of paved streets, a superintendent of unpaved streets, a superintendent of cuts and two master mechanics, one in charge of the highway department shops, including transportation, and the other in charge of the municipal asphalt plant. Another newly-created position is that of chief inspector.

Changes Proposed.
It is proposed to make Assistant Engineer F. B. Couch superintendent of paved streets without change of his present salary of $3,000, to succeed H.
N. Moss, made assistant engineer. S. J.
Goss, assistant engineer at $2,800, is slated to succeed Grabill as superintendent of unpaved, or suburban, streets, at $3,000. G. L. Quinn, $2,800, assistant engineer, is to succeed Couch
as superintendent of cuts without salary increase. Harry Key, a new man, is to be master mechanic in charge of trucks and shops. Inspectors W. B.
Champion and J. H. Burns will be promoted, respectively, to chief and principal inspectors.

The plan for reorganization has not yet been passed upon by the Board of District Commissioners, but awaits the return of Proctor L. Doughtery, president of that board, who is expected to end his vacation today. It has the approval of Col. William B. Ladue, Engineer Commissioner, and the creation of the new position of engineer of maintenance and the regrading of old ones have the approval of the Federal personnel re-classification board.

Capt. Whitehurst has been working on the new plan since he took office nearly two years ago. For six months, from October, 1926, to March, 1927, he spent practically his entire time on it. He says, in his report to the Engineer Commissioner:

In the last five years the work and expenditure of this department have increased four-fold without a corresponding increase in supervising personnel and plant or the necessary changes in methods to meet new and changed conditions. Sufficient opportunity for the executives of the department to Incarceration is not for the likes of

And it is all because the city's fathers lacked foresight.

TRIO IS STOLEN AT NIGHT

Thirty-one years ago Mrs. Gertrude

Longworth awoke in her home in Brooklyn and found that her three blond daughters had been kidnapped from their cribs in which they were sleeping in an adjoining room. Frantically she ran into the street calling their names and all night she searched alone, hoping to find them.

Today Mrs. Longworth, blind and silver-haired, her love for her children undimmed by years of separation, is continuing the search for her children from her home at 2204 Railroad avenue south.

Yesterday police received a letter from

RAILROADS SEEKING GENUINE INNOVATION IN U.S. INCOME TAXES

Carriers Want to Deduct Levies Paid in Determining Net Income.

CUT IN CORPORATION RATE ALSO IS SOUGHT

Companies Believe Some Provisions of Revenue Law Need Clarification.

BY WILLIAM P. HELM, JR.

A genuine innovation in the Federal income tax is being sought by railroads of the United States as part of their program for tax reduction to be presented to Congress at its next session. The railroads want the Government to permit deduction of income taxes paid—the same as State local and some Federal taxes now can be deducted—in determining income.

Under the present law, no such deduction is allowed.

In addition, the carriers seek a reduction in the corporation tax rate. They likewise believe that some provisions of the revenue law as it now stands need clarification and minor changes.

For some time past the chief railroads of the country have been whipping their program into shape through the medium of an ad-hoc organization of the Association of Railroad Executives. This organization has headquarters, separate from those of the railway executives, in Washington. It has sought and obtained the views of nearly all the big carriers, and from them has evolved a program which will be presented to the ways and means committee at its meeting here in November.

Intent to Cooperate.

The carriers also intend to cooperate with other industrial organizations in advocating corporation tax reduction. Their own plan for seeking to legalize deductions of Federal income tax paid when arriving at net income has not yet generally been adopted by other trade organizations. Without doubt it will be popular and may be incorporated in other industrial programs to go before Congress.

A look at the figures of net revenue in all show cities where the roads have been in mind. Assuming that railroad net income in 1926 was $1,000,000,000, the Federal income tax amounted roughly to $125,000,000. That sum was paid in 1927 on 1926 earnings.

When the roads come to make out their 1927 tax returns, let it be assumed that they will pay $1,000,000,000. Under the present law the railroads are not allowed to deduct from that amount the $125,000,000 which they paid in Federal income tax this year. They must disregard that payment and pay taxes on the full $1,000,000,000.

The carriers want the law changed so that they may deduct from the hypothetical $1,000,000,000 the $125,000,000 going to the Federal Government. They argue that the real net income is not $1,000,000,000 but $1,000,000,000 less $125,000,000 or $875,000,000. This point out that of all the various taxes which they pay—State, local and Federal—the Federal income tax stands virtually alone in not being allowable as a deduction. The condition of the Treasury has reached a point, it is contended, where Federal income taxes should be placed with the long list of other taxes in the column of deductible items.

Worked Virtually Alone.

In formulating their program the carriers have been working virtually alone, although in full sympathy with other organizations planning presentations to the way and means committees. The perhaps most important large trade representative is the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which has a program declaring in the order named, for the following:

1. Reduction of the corporation income tax rate from 10% per cent to 10.

2. Repeal of the Federal inheritance tax, leaving this field of revenue to the States.

3. Repeal of the remaining tax on particular businesses.

4. The proposal, not yet enunciated, virtually all other programs of tax relief by trade organizations. Thus the chamber can be said to oppose no outstanding tax-reduction plan, but to favor virtually all. It consequently will be in a position to attract every other notable agency working for reduction.

Little Agricultural Interest.

Obviously, the total cut contemplated under the chamber's plan would exceed somewhat the total now contemplated as the maximum tax reduction. Lowering the corporation rate to 10 per cent probably would reduce Treasury revenues by $350,000,000 annually, on the volume of business done in 1926. Repeal of the inheritance and estate taxes would reduce Treasury revenues by from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 more. Thus the total reduction contemplated by the chamber's program would run from $425,000,000 upward, possibly to $500,000,000.

In the realm of agriculture, but little interest has been manifested over the coming tax cuts. Farm organizations, while not inclined to believe that the farmer would fare better if he had more money to spend, do not seem to be in a position to support any movement, whether it be a movement to align the farmer with the forces working for corporate tax rate reduction.

Among the cooperative farm organizations, however, there is crystallizing a movement to work for the clarification of certain features of the present law, notably with respect to setting up reserves. Doubtless whatever plan is evolved from this movement will be placed before Congress.

CELL DOORS TOO SMALL FOR 516-POUND PRISONER

under Capt. William E. Sandford, of the Fifth Precinct, lied themselves around to Alvin Chapman Ogle's domicile at 827 Virginia avenue southeast. The resident met them at the door, and when he saw who they were his old smile came back.

As Alvin Chapman Ogle's smile spread inch by inch across his face, a look of consternation swept across the countenance of Capt. Sandford and his aides.

For, from the cooling baby that was born when the police precincts were built, Alvin Chapman Ogle had grown and developed until now he weighed slightly more than a quarter of a ton—to be exact, 516 pounds. That's a lot of pounds for any man, but for a prisoner in the police department, it was too many.

In Mr. Ogle's domicile Capt. Sandford found a small quantity of liquor, and decided that Mr. Ogle should be locked up in fine station on charges of selling and illegally possessing intoxicants. He summoned the police patrol.

"Black Marin" Arrives.

When the wagon rolled up to the door Alvin Chapman Ogle began to laugh a laugh that reminded the officers of the passing of a heavy freight train, for the ground in the vicinity vibrated and rumbled.

The laughing quarter of a ton of manhood made his way to the bars which had brought Ogle to the station. When the house man called his attention to the discrepancy between the width of the door and the width of Ogle the captain's face paled. What to do? He couldn't let Ogle sit down in the squadroom, for the furniture was built that way. He was probably the biggest man in the room, and which he could not solve alone.

He called his men around him and they went into a "huddle." For that was the secret that had made Alvin Chapman Ogle smile when he was discharged from the force. He early realized that he had to get right on the part of the city fathers, and knew that never would the police be able to lock him up. They had made him a prisoner but no cell would hold his manifolds.

Coming out of the huddle Capt. Sandford and his men with a last glance from Ogle to the door admitted defeat, for they asked the prisoner to "stand" around until a bumboman could be summoned who would free him from his imaginary confinement. The bumboman arrived, and Ogle was released on $1,500 bail.

Two uninvited guests, a yellow cat on the side fence and a howling dog in a nearby yard, added their bit now and then to the ensemble numbers, while he even essayed the task of accompanying one of the sopranos on her aria flights.

A pater familias in his shirt sleeves with a young hopeful on his arm slipped down a sloping shed into a yawning ashcan and made some chimes of his own. The excited audience crowded and laughed and the small boys in "Our Gang" had a few remarks to make about the general happening, but outside of that there was silence except when the singer sang and the orchestra labored mightily at the score.

Chorus Shows Training.

Despite the handicaps of the open air setting to vocal effects the Washingtonians won new laurels in many respects. The choir, composed of young voices which showed careful training and the ensemble numbers were sung with snap and vim. The costume was adequate and the stage setting unique and attractive.

The group of evening singers made by Augustine Arancio sang the role of "Men Grenicheaux" in mellow tones and with artistic ability. Dr. Charles Gordon as "Gaspard" rather outplayed his part at times but his voice was good and his characterization of the character he played was excellent. Gene Myers as "Henri" and Wesley Peckham as "The Balli" gave good account of themselves.

The feminine honors were upheld by Elsie Soubrie, an attractive German whose voice was excellent although not very flexible, and the vivacious Hunt twins, Gayle and Gladys.

The other members of the company were Oswald Barber, Dorothy Davenport, Betty Beck, Ruth McCormick, Thelma Doyle, Gene Farrell, William Rice, Charles Hunt, Jess Nussar, Marcus Beck, Joshua Dillingham, Luther Cook, S. B. Covert, Henry Lott, George Myers, Andy Ladd, John Bollett, smallest and bravest of the crew.

In commenting on the work of closing crevasses in the Mississippi Valley the Commerce Secretary said: "Every crevasse in the valley is being closed, and by December 1 I believe the work will be completed. The War Department is going ahead with the work and I feel certain the money to pay for it will be available."

When asked if he would accept the Republican nomination for the Presidency if it were offered, Mr. Hoover replied briefly and emphatically, "I will not say one word about politics as long as I am engaged in relief work."

A special train bearing the party left for Baton Rouge yesterday. Hoover will inspect the flooded areas of that section and go to Baton Rouge Friday, where he will address the special session of the State Legislature.

Tydings Lauds Vodka And Poland's Women

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 7.—United States Senator Milford E. Tydings of Maryland, today returned from a trip to Russia and Poland and asserted that the execution of the inheritance and estate taxes would reduce Treasury revenues by from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 more. Thus the total reduction contemplated by the chamber's program would run from $425,000,000 upward, possibly to $500,000,000.

erson, a tinner, of 1503 Good Hope road southeast, on a charge of investigation. Mrs. John H. Anderson declares her husband told the dinner's father where he had hidden the money.

Mrs. Anderson, who is the Civil War veteran's wife, declared the $500 has long been the cause of friction in the family. About two months ago she gave it to her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Fowler, "to keep for him," she said. Later, she is said to have wanted it back and offered to let her wife do what she would with it if she would get it for her.

The money was returned immediately by Mrs. Fowler when she wrote her a letter, Mrs. Anderson said. She said she had given the money to her son, Bernard, called her attention to noises on the roof. A few minutes later another son, John H. Jr., returned home, she said, and little was thought of the noises.

Yesterday morning when she went to the roof, she found two boards broken from the door opening on a rear alley, but thought nothing wrong, and did not connect them with noise she had heard the night before. Her visit to the shed was followed by her husband's daily trip to the hiding place. She learned the noise was the sound of footsteps of a second set of twos.

Tomorrow morning will bring the first judgment of the "American beauties" when all but three of the five geographical divisions of the contest will be eliminated. In the afternoon, the division winners will be chosen, and the winner of the tournament taken on Friday.

The 72 beauties attended a ball tonight, taking turns in stepping out of a great picture frame onto the stage. Mrs. Anderson said her husband has other means, besides the stolen funds. Each month, she said, he draws $650 pension from the Government for his wife. When she visits and collects time to time small sums on debts owed him. Faith in his barrels, however, has been shattered.

Local garrisons were strongly in favor of such a step, which necessitates changing that section of the national Army's constitution which provides that the national headquarters shall be the city where the head of the organization resides. At present, Washington enjoys this distinction since it is the home of Captain C. O. Howard, national commander.

Washington will become the permanent national headquarters of the Army and Navy Union of the United States, it was decided yesterday by the organization, now holding its thirty-ninth annual encampment in this city.

R. HEARST TELLS OF EFFORT TO STOP OLD GLORY'S FLIGHT

ayne Told of Careful Preparation and Asked Forgiveness for Mistakes.

Los Angeles, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—William Randolph Hearst, newspaper publisher, and owner of the airplane "Old Glory," passing at sea, has accepted compensation, $10,000, today issued a statement in which he said he had done his best to prevent the plane from starting the night.

With the brief statement, Hearst made public an exchange of telegrams in which he had urged through New York representatives that the plane would not leave the Government could assume the responsibility.

The publisher's statement read:

"I was very apprehensive of the trip, in account of the recent disasters and did my best to prevent the plane from going. I had no idea the M.E. Payne (Payne of the New York Mirror) was going under any circumstances. I earnestly hope that all on board Old Glory will be saved."

Text of Wire Exchange.

The telegrams made public by Hearst read:

"Dear Simon, Calif., Sept. 2, 1927, by letter.
Ed S. Coblenz, New York American, New York.
(Copy to Phil Payne)

"I do not think Old Glory should start except under the auspices of the Government. In view of the recent disasters, will not assume responsibility but will proceed only if the Government will assume authority and responsibility.

"The flight is not undertaken for propagation purposes but to advance aviation, it is doubtful whether in the light of recent events these flights do advance aviation."

"These numerous disasters may regard it. Therefore, I await the sanction of the Government.

Believes, However, Coolidge Will Have Plan to Propose When Congress Meets.

RAPID CITY CANCELS IDEA OF HOLIDAY ON LEAVING

Executive Expected to Speak From Train as He Departs for Capital.

By CARLISLE BARGERON
(Staff Correspondent of The Post.)

Rapid City, S. Dak., Sept. 7.—There are outcroppings of disappointment here over the failure of President Coolidge to say anything about farm relief before he leaves the West. With his departure scheduled for Friday, one of the leading newspapers of this State and others have ventured the hope that surely he is not going away without saying something on the subject closest to the heart of the middle West.

But unless Mr. Coolidge does something of which there are absolutely no present indications, this is surely what he plans to do. But the indications are that he will have something to say back in Washington. It is believed he will remain silent on the question until Congress convenes and then exert his influence to see that there is no repetition of the last session, when no farm legislation was enacted.

Senator Capper, of Kansas, is perhaps the only McNary-Haugen bill advocate with whom the President has talked since he has been out here. He has talked to many on the other side of the question, and has given the matter very close study.

Governor's "Feeler" Falls.

Several weeks ago a bill was given out by former Gov. McElvane of Nebraska that in some quarters was considered a "feeler," but it elicited comparatively few formal responses. Nevertheless, present signs point to the President's introducing a bill pretty much along its lines. It is the so-called Jardine proposal.

The plaint which the South Dakota newspapers voiced is regarded as rather significant. They did not advocate any particular plan of relief, but still ventured the hope that the President would express his views before he left here.

It is virtually the first release, not only in this State but the surrounding States, to farm relief since the President came to office.

Now the question is being asked around here as to whether it is to be followed by farm relief agitation immediately the President leaves. It is hardly likely that it will.

Assuming that it is, the question is, will it be the McNary-Haugen? Manifestly any farm relief agitation would again focus attention on former Gov. Lowden of Indiana. He has been widely advertised as the farmer's friend.

Farm Relief Believed Sure.

But the President's plan, it is believed, will deal effectively with this phase. It is considered that without a doubt there will be farm relief legislation at the next session of Congress, and that it will not be the McNary-Haugen bill. Coolidge will be in a position (and the indications are that he will make use of it) to take a firm hold of things, tell Congress that farm relief is not a matter for political football, and that the sensible thing is to pass conservative and sound legislation. This probably will not happen until after January.

Between now and then the Lowden managers would have some time in which to capitalize the President's silence. But then when something is done they will be without talking points. Because it is believed, when all is said and done, that the so-called Jardine bill will be introduced to the greater part of the Middle West. Especially is this true when considered with the bountiful crops that are now being harvested.

These same bountiful crops are what will make it difficult for the Lowden interests to maintain their position between now and the time Congress acts.

Plans for the entire city of Rapid City taking a holiday tomorrow and going out to bid the President goodby have been canceled. It is now understood that the President will say something from the rear platform of his train just before it leaves Rapid City Friday night.

SON'S BIRTHDAY FETE JOINED BY PRESIDENT

Party Had for John Coolidge on Attaining 21; Guards Are Inspected.

Rapid City, S. Dak., Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Spending the day at the State Game Lodge, President Coolidge joined in a birthday party for his son, John, who was 21 years old today, and later inspected the soldiers who had charge of the place all summer. The family spent the afternoon, which was quite warm for this season of the year, on the front porch.

The presidential guard, which is composed of soldiers stationed with the Fourth Cavalry at Fort Meade, S. Dak., received the thanks of Mr. Coolidge for their arduous labors of the summer. And for the first time since entering the White House he posed for a picture with the forces who have guarded him.

Later the President rode to the soldiers' camp set up nearby, and with Capt. R. A. Ifker, commanding officer, inspected the quarters, which included all the attributes of a regular military post.

LOWMAN'S SPEECH CAUSES PROTEST

Assistant Secretary of Treasury Accused of Misusing Office.

(Associated Press.) Secretary Mellon had placed before him yesterday a vigorous protest from Representative Boylan, Democrat, New York, against the Buffalo Labor Day speech of Senator Lowman of Indiana in which Gov. Smith was described as a force detrimental to prohibition.

It was said at the Treasury that the Secretary would confer soon with Mr. Lowman and at that time would take up the protest, which charged Lowman with "gross abuse" of his Federal office and asked if the Secretary endorsed "the action of your subordinate."

If quoted correctly in the press Mr. Lowman took advantage of his position as a Federal officer to make a political speech, which was an insult not only to

Will Rogers Calls Dakota Farm Gift Act of Comedian

Special to The Washington Post.
Burbank, Calif., Sept. 7.—The good people of Dakota offered to give Calvin a farm if he would live on it. I wouldn't advise you to give those people too much credit for generosity.

There is not a farmer in any State in the West that wouldn't be glad to give him a farm if he will paint it, fix up the fences, and keep up the series of mortgages that are on it. And if you think Coolidge ain't smart, you just watch him not take it.

Yours, Congressman-at-Large.
WILL ROGERS.

P.S.—That wasn't a philanthropist that made him that offer. That was some com.

Gov. Smith, but also to the people of New York State," Boylan said. "I refer to his assertion that the repeal of the State enforcement law has made it impossible to enforce the dry law in New York. In this he is entirely mistaken. Mr. Lowman is entirely mistaken. The people clearly showed their feeling last fall when they elected Alfred E. Smith governor for the fourth time, and at the same election they administered an overwhelming defeat to Mr. Lowman, who was a candidate for lieutenant governor on a ticket which tried to be half wet and half dry in my State."

Mr. Vare makes no charge of fraud in any part of the State. Both parties agree to cooperate in securing the custody of the ballots in all counties for the Senate. Mr. Wilson is to assume the burden of the cost of collecting the ballot in four counties and Mr. Vare in all other counties of the State. Both expect to be reimbursed by the Senate. Although Mr. Vare makes no charges he holds that if some ballots are opened all should be.

"It is understood each party will file a protest in the tribunal he selects and the other party consenting to the impounding of the records and ballots but will reserve any rights he may have as if he had not consented. Mr. Vare in no way recognizes the authority of the committee."

VARE AND WILSON AGREE TO RECOUNT OF SENATE VOTES

All State Ballots ... to Be Canvassed if Plans Are Carried Out.

MUST ACT QUICKLY TO HALT DESTRUCTION

Rivals Come to an Understanding at Meeting of Senate Committees.

Chicago, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—A recount of all ballots cast in the 1926 senatorial election in Pennsylvania to decide the Vare-Wilson contest appeared likely following a joint meeting of the Reed investigation and investigation and the Senate privileges and elections committees here today.

Both William S. Vare (Republican), senator-elect, and William B. Wilson (Democrat), his opponent, agreed to immediate impounding of all ballots for the Senate to prevent their destruction this month. Under the Pennsylvania law they may be destroyed after September 20.

The Vare and Wilson factions, however, failed to agree on the form of petitions to restrain election officials from destroying ballots. The contestants for the Senate seat and their supporters met for Philadelphia tonight, hopeful of untangling that knot before reaching the Pennsylvania metropolis tomorrow.

Reed Makes Statement.

After the conference of the committees with Vare, Wilson and their counsel, which was closed to newspaper men, Senator James A. Reed (Democrat), Missouri, chairman of the investigating committee, made the statement:

"Mr. Wilson takes the position that he has charged in fraud in six counties. The Senate has the ballots in two, Philadelphia and Allegheny. Four others have not been obtained, although in Delaware County and in Westmoreland County the destruction has been issued.

"Mr. Vare estimated the cost of impounding and obtaining ballots might be as much as $1,000 a county. The Reed committee members here were Reed and Senator Robert M. La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin. The privileges and elections committee members attending were Sen. Thomas H. Caraway, Arkansas; M. N. Neely, West Virginia, and W. S. George, Georgia, all Democrats and Charles S. Deneen (Republican), Illinois.

The need for immediate action because of a primary election in Pennsylvania this fall was stressed. Ballot boxes will be needed and disposition of their contents must be made soon or the ballots will be destroyed.

ATMOSPHERE OF WAR CREATED, ENVOYS TOLD

Japanese Delegate Pledges Aid of His Country in Reducing Armaments.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 19.—"My baby had eczema for three months and nothing would do any good until I tried your products. His cheeks were red and covered with blisters, and the itching was so annoying that he could not sleep."

After reading your ad in the paper I purchased a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap. Only a few applications stopped the itching entirely and within a week the redness was gone and his skin perfectly clear. Your ointment is really wonderful and I will praise it to everyone." (Signed) Charles Grear, 1004 Mount Vernon.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 7 (A.P.).—Assertions that competitive armaments create an atmosphere of war and that reduction of armaments must be doggedly fought for and achieved, were the high points of the addresses at the League of Nations assembly today.

The Japanese delegate, Minechiro Aochi, said Japan definitely disdained military competition and armaments should be brought to a standstill and lowered to a level strictly essential to national security. He pledged his country's cooperation with the league's preparation of disarmament.

Other more or less speakers, such as foreign minister of Sweden, insisted it was useless to invoke anew before the great military powers settled the divergencies of views which had appeared at previous meetings of the commission.

M. Logrash, critic of the commission for its lack of firm attitude on political problems in the last year, alluding, it is believed, to the controversy between Italy and Jugoslavia, and showed no terror of the great powers when he scoured the practice of certain members of the league in discussing burning political questions among themselves.

Sees History Repeating.

"This," he said, "has not dissipated the fears of those who believed that complete separation of the League would increase the danger that important political questions would be withheld from the decisions of the council and would be transferred to an inner circle of representatives of certain powers only."

The old prewar methods are still in vogue and the League of Nations should be a psychological seismograph to foresee and warn all events which, as in 1914, might lead to world war. Felix Cahn, foreign minister of Latvia, declared. He warned the assembly that the military budgets of 1926, including naval and air forces, amounted in Europe to $1,500,000,000, about the same as in 1913, and that the aggregate number of soldiers, more than 3,000,000, was only slightly less than the figure for 1913.

Moreover, he remarked, the technical equipment of armies was far more developed than before the great war.

We are living under the conditions of armed peace which prevailed before the war," he said, "and under a system of competitive armaments at Nanjing for a conference with C. C. Wu, foreign minister.

It is stated that this agreement is responsible for the Japanese decision to withdraw troops from Shantung province.

Quo Tai-Chi, vice minister of foreign affairs, said officially thanked the Japanese for the withdrawal of the troops, but strongly repudiated the recent declaration by the Japanese prime minister, Tanaka, that Japan is entitled to return the troops in case Japan considers that the situation warrants it. Quo declared:

"This is an unwarranted presumption by the Japanese government."

The Christian general, Feng Yu-Hsiang, agreed with the Nationalist government today that he is launching an offensive against the Northerners in Shantung province with an army of 80,000, claiming that his troops have reached the Shantung border.

More than 7,000 cases of cholera are reported at Shantung, mostly confined to soldiers and war prisoners, but it is spreading to civilians.

Foreigners arriving in Shanghai today from Nanking state that owing to the lack of doctors and hospital facilities hundreds are dead and dying along the streets and railway and fear is expressed that the epidemic will spread to Shanghai.

U. S. EMPLOYEES WANT NEW LAW ON "SPOILS"

Federation Convention Votes Demand for Freedom of Political Speech.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Resolutions asking that the law regulating political activities of civil service employees be unanimously approved by the National Federation of Federal Employees, in convention here today.

The resolutions were passed after President Luther C. Stewart had declared that a "secret spoils system" exists which deprives the government's civilian employees of their voice in political matters. The civil service, he said, has resulted in one-sided regulations.

"We do not want a spoils system, but an open spoils system would be better than a secret spoils system," he continued.

Stewart placed most of the blame upon "swelling ambiguous laws pertaining to the Government employee in politics which place any employee who expresses a personal opinion in jeopardy of official investigation."

Army Board Urges Dye For Light-Hued Horses

Light-colored horses and horses having prominent light patches, blazed faces and similar markings should either be disposed of from Army campaign service or given a neutral color by the use of dyes as a defensive measure against low-flying aerial attacks, an officers' board experimenting in defense measures at Fort Riley, Kans., Cavalry School reported yesterday to the War Department.

This is the first time that the use of dyes has been considered as a solution of the problem which has confronted the department for years. Light-colored horses in former years have been considered undesirable in campaigns, their tell-tale markings affording a target for a low-flying plane.

The board made other conclusions on defense measures regarding the concealment of prominent shadows by covers and herbage, the subduing of flashes from shiny equipment by removal of polish and covers, and the procedure of formations to present a less vulnerable target for aerial attacks.

NANKING BARES TREATY FOR JAPAN'S WITHDRAWAL

China Nationalists Resent, However, Threat to Return Troops to Shantung.

CHOLERA EPIDEMIC GROWS

(Special Cable Dispatch.)
Shanghai, Sept. 7.—The nationalists today disclosed the contents of an agreement with the Japanese whereby the nationalists undertake to guarantee the protection of lives and properties of Japanese residing in nationalist territory.

The agreement was negotiated on August 17, when the Japanese Minister, Yoshizawa, visited the nationalist capital at Nanjing for a conference with C. C. Wu, foreign minister.

It is stated that this agreement is responsible for the Japanese decision to withdraw troops from Shantung province.

Bite yourself an Alphabet

And they're both ardent pretzeleers

Back in '73 Grandpa was the pretzel biting champion of Kokono County—and he's still good. He can bite straight through the alphabet without spoiling a single pretzel. Bobby can already make a "B" in a single bite, but he's apt to leave rough edges on his "Q's."

In a statement recently bitten for the press, Grandpa said: "Uneeda Bakers' pretzels are

"Pretzels today are better than ever. Crispier than the kind we had when Grant was president. Crunchier and more brittle than even those of the Garfield-Arthur period. And the salty taste is what I call salty."

The Golden Age of pretzels is here. People are eating O-So-Gud Pretzels every chance they get. Before you go to bed—great. With ginger ale—fine. With soup, salad or dessert—nothing smackier. For children in between meals.

Easy to digest? Yes. And remember—O-So-Gud is the name. Why so good? Because they're made by the Uneeda Bakers.

O-SO-GUD REG. U.S. PAT. OFF. PRETZELS

Buy them by the pound. There's a lot of goodness tied up in each and every one.

A Beautiful Country Estate

THE SHENANDOAH VALLEY OF VIRGINIA is historically, socially and agriculturally one of the most noted and favored parts of the United States. Few regions have more elegant country homes, occupied by people of refinement. In this environment I offer a very handsome property. The dwelling, of brick construction, built in 1811 and has an historic background. It contains entrance hall; two drawing rooms; library; dining room; sun room; breakfast room; ten master bedrooms; four baths; billiard and card room; Open fireplaces in 15 rooms. Hot water heat; electric lights. Servants' rooms in separate wing with own kitchen. Guest cottage separated from main house by courtyard garden. Kitchen, dining room, living room, two bedrooms, bath.

The approach is most picturesque, through well developed timber, and the flower garden is "a joy forever."

The farm contains 271 acres of fertile limestone land and is in productive condition.

The outbuildings consist of a four-car garage, modern dairy barn, and tenant houses.

Accessibility: Washington by motor 2 1/2 hours, by train 1 1/2 hours; Baltimore 2 1/2 hours by motor, train 3 hours; New York by train 8 hours.

Offered to close on estate.

In a statement recently bitten for the press, Grandpa said: "Uneeda Bakers' pretzels are

"Pretzels today are better than ever. Crisper than the kind we had when Grant was president. Crunchier and more brittle than even those of the Garfield-Arthur period. And the salty taste is what I call salty."

The Golden Age of pretzels is here. People are eating O-So-Gud Pretzels every chance they get. Before you go to bed—great. With ginger ale—fine. With soup, salad or dessert—nothing smackier. For children in between meals.

Easy to digest? Yes. And remember—O-So-Gud is the name. Why so good? Because they're made by the Uneeda Bakers.

A Beautiful Country Estate

THE SHENANDOAH VALLEY OF VIRGINIA is historically, socially and agriculturally one of the most noted and favored parts of the United States. Few regions have more elegant country homes, occupied by people of refinement. In this environment I offer a very handsome property. The dwelling, of brick construction, built in 1811 and has an historic background. It contains entrance hall; two drawing rooms; library; dining room; sun room; breakfast room; ten master bedrooms; four baths; billiard and card room; Open fireplaces in 15 rooms. Hot water heat; electric lights. Servants' room in separate wing with own kitchen. Guest cottage separated from main house by courtyard garden. Kitchen, dining room, living room, two bedrooms, bath. The approach is most picturesque, through well developed timber, and the flower garden is "a joy forever." The farm contains 271 acres of fertile limestone land and is in productive condition. The outbuildings consist of a four-car garage, modern dairy barn, and tenant houses. Accessibility: Washington by motor 2 1/2 hours, by train 1 1/2 hours; Baltimore 2 1/2 hours by motor, train 3 hours; New York by train 8 hours. Offered to close an estate.

WORK OF POLICEWOMEN INCREASED DURING YEAR

Bureau Handled 851 Cases, 109 More Than in the Preceding Year.

427 ARE TAKEN IN STORES

Less emphasis than usual was placed on investigation of erring husbands and wives, dance halls, motion picture theaters and automobile mashes in the annual report for the last fiscal year of Lieut. Miss Van Winkle, head of the Women's Bureau of the Metropolitan Police Department, made public yesterday. Mrs. Van Winkle said, in her report:

"During the last fiscal year the bureau dealt with 851 cases, an increase of 109 as compared with the preceding year. A general patrol was maintained and 2,071 inspections were made of moving picture theaters, 1,000 cafes, 357 dance halls, 192 parks, in addition to these, 4,048 inspections of stores were made, resulting in 427 persons being taken into custody. One hundred and forty-nine truants were found, 51 inventories taken at their homes and 106 persons were warned."

The report of the supervisor of case investigations shows that 1,724 complaints were received, of which 1,643 were adjusted and 81 were pending. The sources of these complaints were citizens, parents, husbands and wives. Value of property recovered by the bureau was $4,899.72, of which $3,830.45 was reported as stolen and $1,069.27 as recovered property of persons of sound mind."

During the year there were 3,980 inmates of the House of Detention, 3,500 having been prisoners and 475 women and children lodgers. The average length of confinement was 4.8 days each. There were, on the average, 4746 inmates a day. The cost of maintenance of the institution was $9,230.59. Cost of each meal, including all institutional expenses, was given as 19 cents.

YESES, my dear, there is indeed such a thing as a "quick" cake, that is likewise a good cake, and worth serving at any party—without the bother of waiting upon any occasion. There is more than one recipe in existence, for "quick" cakes have become more or less the order of our present day, but as you have called attention to it, I will try to give you an expression about one, we have selected to give you, in answer to your wish for a cake, one that seems to me to be particularly suitable to such a service.

There are quick cakes with chocolate, with cinnamon, with lemon, with fruit, with cream, with nuts, and with butter. But the one for you today, which follows, is one with walnuts and an exceptionally good one.

"Quick" Cake.

(Nut Cup Cakes.)

Cream a half cupful of butter until soft and then gradually add three cups of cupful of sugar. When these materials are well blended, add two eggs (they need not be beaten), and whip them well. Add a third of a cupful of milk (sweet or sour) and a fourth cupful of flour. Add one teaspoonful of soda to the mixture and beat well. Add one cupful of hot water and combine the mixture by adding the dry materials first to the molasses mixture and then the water with the soda. Bake in a few buttered pans and when done, cool them off together with tongs. Molasses cake should be baked in a quick oven. Preserved cherries or peaches which have been chilled may be served with this cake very attractively. To serve hot, with whipped cream, or with jam.

Not infrequently, I think, we have just before dinner time, a bit of an aspiration to fudge with something that is different and offer it to our family as a surprise. Here is a something which may be substituted for the chilled molasses. If these are expected it is especially suitable, so file it and set it aside for future use.

Mrs. Barthelow's Molasses Cake.

Mix one cupful of molasses, a half cupful of sugar, one egg and five tablespoons of melted lard (or vegetable fat). Mix one teaspoonful each of ginger and cinnamon and a fourth teaspoonful of nutmeg and a fourth of flour. Add one teaspoonful of soda to the mixture and then the water with the soda. Bake in a few buttered pans and when done, cool them off together with tongs. Molasses cake should be baked in a quick oven. Preserved cherries or peaches which have been chilled may be served with this cake very attractively. To serve hot, with whipped cream, or with jam.

Canape Pimento.

Fry circular pieces of white or brown bread cut one-fourth inch thick in deep fat until well browned. Remove from fat and then place in a hot platter near the oven or where they may be kept warm. For each four pieces of bread to be prepared crevèe two tablespoonsfuls of cream cheese, two tablespoonsfuls of pimento, and a few grains of red pepper, a teaspoonful of Worcester sauce and five boneless sardines finely mashed.

Add salt to taste, spread on the circles of fried bread and place in a shallow dish, enough to have them thoroughly, which will melt the cheese mixture. Then place the little circles on small plates which are in turn placed on a larger plate for serving the first course.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

QUIET EVENINGS.

Oh, some may take the radio and some may see the show, And some may jump into the car and riding gayly go.

But now and then A quiet evening finds me, I like a quiet nook,

An easy chair, And time to fare The pages of a book.

Society is well enough and dinner parties please.

But night by night and week by week how wearisome are these!

And so I say Let come the day My hand stays on the hook And I may sit And read a bit Of some neglected book.

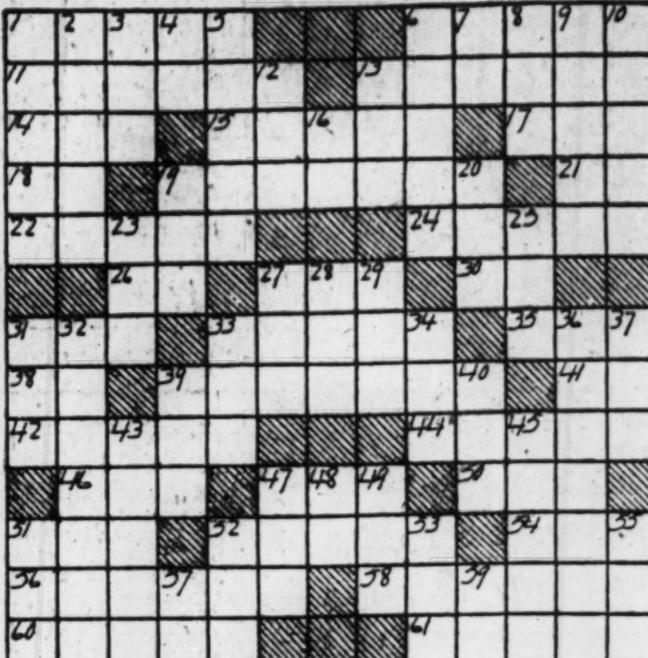

Tis fine to have good friends drop in or call us on the phone.

But now and then soul rebels and want to be alone.

Let him who will Go dancing still Or praising some one's cook Till the dance comes I'll let my thoughts Go pagging through a book.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space, questions pertinent to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to those who send stamped envelopes, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

AUGUST and September are the months for infantile paralysis. The reports of scattered cases of the disease generally start coming in May. It is generally possible in August to predict what is likely to happen when the peak time comes, along toward the end of September. Such a prediction is based on the number of cases reported during the earlier part of the summer and the distribution, character and number of cases discovered during August.

With regard to the number of cases reported had been rather high, and they were widely distributed. There should be rather more than the usual prevalence of the disease in September, but the outbreak should not approximate that of 1916, the last considerable epidemic experienced.

No. 12. One Spade. This is possibly as different a hand to us as could be imagined. The worthless stopper bids a full suit, and no suit offered bids a hand better than average. Upon the basis of the Ace 4, King 3, Queen 2, Jack 1 count, this hand calls for a No Trump bid. The hand has three spades stopped, but is only average; average hands should not be bid. Even the four cards in the defenseless suit do not justify the bid without a qualifying strength.

CLOSING PRICES NEAR DAY'S HIGHEST LEVELS

Steels, Utilities and Motors Among Strong Stocks; Leaders at New Peaks.

RAILS ARE WELL BOUGHT

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 7.—Stocks were buoyant again today, although gains were not as numerous nor as broad as during yesterday's session. Steels, utilities, merchandising stocks, some of the motors and numerous specialties exhibited the most strength, another long list of them being boosted into new high territory. Two or three waves of selling struck the last few hours of the day, but gains in most stocks were easily affected, but a number of the leading rails, utilities and merchandising shares refused to give ground and their steadiness helped to rally the rest of the market. At the close few stocks were far from their best levels of the day. The turnover topped the 2,000,000-share mark.

Outside developments were somewhat more favorable in character with ten of the steel stocks up and the same in rail loadings for the week tending to stimulate the belief that a good pick up in business is ahead. The rise in brokers' loans was more than offset by the lowering of the Chicago rate of interest, which probably means in New York and most other centers, accepted as a concrete indication of the extreme ease in money, unusual at this time of the year. The call money rates remained at 3½ per cent.

The market for oil stocks was reported sold today for $235,000, an increase of $5,000 over yesterday's record high.

Railway shares were well bought under the leadership of New York Central. Not all lines were attacked by Nicker Plate. Great Northern preferred, Penna., Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern, Louisville & Nashville and Soo Line. Western Maryland was heavily bought, gaining 3½ points net on the day.

Consolidated Gas was an outstanding leader among the utilities, being twirled up for a gain of 4½ points to a new high record of 118½. Other strong utilities were Public Service of New Jersey, in new high ground, up 2½; American Gas & Electric, up 2½; Power, Columbia Gas & Electric, Brooklyn Union Gas, Colorado Fuel, American Telephone & Telegraph, South California Edison and Standard Gas & Electric.

Houston Oil got into the limelight with a net gain of 6½ points in a turnover of 88,800 shares. General Asphalt was snapped up for a net gain of 3½. Maryland was steady under active trading, closing fractionally higher. Most of the other members of the group were quiet.

Gasoline stocks were common was pushed into new high ground early in the session, touching 149½, which also was the closing figure, for a net gain of 2 points. Bethlehem reached a new pinnacle at 66, up almost a point, and Crucible came to life with a rise of 2½, but there was little doing in the other independent steels.

General Motors was bought heavily in the early trading, rising to a new top at 25½, but it was hit later by two selling waves, under which it gave ground, to close at 232, for a fractional net.

Nash, almost equally active, reached a new high, held tentatively to its improvement and closed at 93, up 3 points net. Studebaker quit 2½ to the good and Hudson gained a point, but Chrysler and Mack Truck, after an early display of strength, finished fractionally off.

Woolworth scored 4½ points to a new high, and Sears-Roebuck also registered a new top. Montgomery Ward gained fractionally. Cluet Peabody and New high were the only other gains.

Other prominent gains in the day's trading included U. S. Rubber, American Sugar, Cuban American Sugar, South Porto Rico Sugar, American Natural Gas, American Bank Note, All American Engineering, Commercial Solvents, Case Threshing, International Harvester, Westinghouse Air Brake, A. M. Byers, By-Products Co., Reynolds Tobacco, B. Rossia Insurance, Outfit Co., and others.

The contention that the public is taking much greater interest in stocks at the moment was borne out in a measure by the noticeable increase in small lot transactions.

Norwegian kroner advanced 14 points nearer the gold level, sterling was firm and Swiss, Dutch and Italian rates improved slightly.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet today. Trading was attributed largely to further evening-up of commitments in view of the recent announcement crop report. After selling up to 22.05 at the start, December eased off to 22.00 at the close, the day before. The general market closed steady, at net declines of 1 to 4 points.

Trading in foreign cotton 15 points was on buying which appeared to include considerable price fixing for the trade, as well as movement. It was checked by limitation on Some hedge selling, and the midday market hedged off, as if inclined to some extent by the favorable view of market conditions in the South, and rather a better weekly review by the Weather Bureau. On the whole, trade buying to a slight degree was done by hedge selling. Trading otherwise was supposed to be mostly in liquidation of old contracts.

Stocks sold off from 22.70 to 22.41 and March from 23.17 to 22.91, net declines of 13 to 16 points. There was movement at 11.00, but the day's closing prices showed rallies of 6 to 10 points from the lowest.

Reports that Chinese trade interested in the crop at 14,625,000 bales, exclusive of linters, were mentioned in private cables as a factor on an otherwise dead market. The Chinese also may have been little selling locally on these figures. Another private monthly report, however, placed the crop at 14,000,000 bales. Private crop indicates fair, though recently yield at only 12,863,000 bales. On the whole, however, local comment indicated little change in market position as to the probable showing of tomorrow's government report.

A cause of market change mentioned here indicated official figures were expected to show a crop of around 13,030,000 bales, but there was consider-able difference in the two reports.

On the figures, the figures ranged from 11,800,000 to 14,500,000 bales. Private crop indicates fair, though recently yield at only 12,863,000 bales. On the whole, however, local comment indicated little change in market position as to the probable showing of tomorrow's government report.

U. S. TREASURY BONDS SHOW MORE FIRMNESS

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1927.

Liberty 3½ Rise to a New High; Carrier Issues Generally Strong.

FOREIGN LOANS IMPROVED

New York, Sept. 7 (Associated Press). Bond men today continued to watch the trend of prices in the Federal Government division on the theory that the movement was largely barometric following the recent announcement of new Government financing at 3 and 3½ per cent. More confidence was evident among the Treasury obligations than was displayed yesterday, and firmness characterized practically the whole list:

Establishment of a new high by Liberty 3½ was the most spectacular feature, but this was not regarded as especially significant, inasmuch as the amount of the issue outstanding is not large. At 101 25-32 they are now practically in line with the Treasury 3½s, which price close to 101. Second Liberty 4½ also firmed up on a moderately large turnover, selling at 100 9-16, which bond dealers regard as putting them on a basis substantially equal to the new Treasury 3½s for which they are exchangeable.

Railway issues were in the forefront of the domestic corporation group, particularly the low-priced St. Paul issues, several of which sold at their best price of the year. Attention was attracted to the carrier department by the establishment of a new high record for the year in revenue freight loadings in the week ended August 27.

Some of the convertible bonds were strong in sympathy with related stocks, Brooklyn Union Gas 5½s and International Paper 6s being among the most active.

Polish and Italian obligations attracted considerable attention, and French 7s, which sagged late last week on profit-taking, again moved up to their record high price of 107½, probably stimulated somewhat by private dispatches quoting Secretary Mellon as believing the French government would have no difficulty in obtaining a loan at a rate less than the 8 per cent paid on the republic's callible bonds.

BEAUTIFUL HOUSES HELD AID TO CHILD'S SENSE OF ARTISTIC

Those Who Grow in Good Surroundings Trained to Like Such Things.

IMPRESSIONS OF YOUTH REMAIN THROUGH LIFE

House No. 5 in the Exhibit Shows Extravagance Is Not Needed.

It is admitted that environment is undoubtedly a mighty force in shaping the lives of every person. Children who grow up in good surroundings with pretty furnishings and comfortable living conditions are trained to like such things. They can not be happy unless they are slightly surrounded, for environment has taught them that pretty things are the proper things, and they will demand these things through life.

If grown people can cultivate a sense of beauty by spending hours in museums and art institutions, where furniture, pictures, rugs and statuary in beautiful form and color abound, surely a child whose early impressions have been spent in a house of good furniture, good taste and in good taste, will grow up with an instinctive feeling for beauty which will abide with him or her forever.

The Home Beautiful exhibit arranged by The Washington Post and cooperatives in advertising is just this thought in mind in presenting to the people of Washington five houses varying in type and price, and which will be furnished in perfect taste so that every one will be able to see the beautiful ones in which harmony of color has played its rôle.

Beauty Not Extravagance.

Beauty does not necessarily mean elegance or extravagance—this will be demonstrated in house No. 5 in the Home Beautiful exhibit. This house is the least costly of the five exhibit houses. That it is not necessarily cheap and austere is evident when one observes the way in which harmony of color has been used to pay for improved service.

Ham's reason, he stated, for opposing the proposed bus line was that it would injure the jointly operated Woodley road bus line, started in 1922 at the time of public utility passes, which he said had since suffered an operating loss of $30,000. Asked if his company would join the Capital Traction Co. in jointly operating the de luxe line, he replied that it would not.

Half a dozen citizens appeared to state that they would patronize the Cleveland Park buses.

CENTER MARKET HELD ANSWERABLE TO CITY

Commissioners Declare Dealers Must Respect District Health Regulations.

Food dealers in and about Center Market, who are tenants of the Federal Government, are subject to the regulations of the District Health Department as well as those of the Department of Agriculture, according to statements filed yesterday in the Court of Appeals by the District Commissioners.

The Commissioners are opposing the granting of a writ of error to Rockwood Naumburg, who was fined $10 by Judge McMahon in Police Court on June 8 on a charge of failing to properly screen and protect a display of comb honey.

Naumburg was indicted against the Health Department for regulation governing the exposure of foodstuffs.

He denied the right of the District government to proceed against him on Federal territory for an alleged offense which is covered by regulations promulgated by the Department of Agriculture for the conduct of the market.

The Home Beautiful exhibit will be open for public inspection September 13 to 25. Everyone is invited to visit the houses as often as they wish and to adopt for their own use any suggestion shown which may interest them.

Location of Houses.

House No. 1, located 4716 Bladensburg terrace, Bladensburg, is valued at $40,000. It was designed and built by Chas. E. Wirs & Sons, home builders.

House No. 2, valued at $32,500, is located 4525 Cathedral avenue, Wesley Heights. It was designed and built and loaned for the exhibit by W. C. & A. N. Miller, home builders and realtors.

House No. 3, located 2928 Twenty-eighth street, Woodley Park, was designed, built and loaned for the exhibit by Washington home builders and realtor. It is valued at $19,000.

House No. 4, valued at $17,500, is located 1425 Van Buren street, and was loaned for the exhibit by McKeever & Goss realtors.

House No. 5, valued at $10,500, is located 418 Peabody street, Manor Park. It was designed, built and loaned by Preston E. Wirs Co., home builders and realtors.

Two Men Accidentally Shot.

While handling a pistol yesterday, James L. Taylor, 31 years old, colored, 1433 Spring road northwest, at 1717 Seventh street northwest, accidentally shot himself through the hand. Joseph Smith, 28, colored, 1709 North street northwest, who was standing near Taylor, was also shot through the arm. Both men were treated at Freedmen's Hospital.

CLEVELAND PARK BUS LINE OPPOSED BY HAM

W. R. & E. Head Declares Project Would Injure Woodley Road Cars.

HINTS AT GREATER FARE

William F. Ham, president of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., yesterday before the Public Utilities Commission, opposed the granting of the petition of the Capital Traction Co. for permission to establish a motorbus line, with 25 cent fare from Cleveland Park to the heart of the city.

Hints of increased street car fares were made. The W. R. & E. officially said that the companies will have more revenue to pay for improved services.

Ham's reason, he stated, for opposing the proposed bus line was that it would injure the jointly operated Woodley road bus line, started in 1922 at the time of public utility passes, which he said had since suffered an operating loss of $30,000. Asked if his company would join the Capital Traction Co. in jointly operating the de luxe line, he replied that it would not.

Half a dozen citizens appeared to state that they would patronize the Cleveland Park buses.

Subjects to be discussed include needed legislation, underground discussion as to maintenance of highways as compared to roads, and other topics.

Ellison, representing the group, originated the plan for periodic meetings with department heads. Lieut. Col. J. Franklin Bell, Bassett's predecessor, continued it.

Flood Session Asked By Senator Harrison

(Associated Press.)

In a letter to President Coolidge, Senator Harrison (Democrat), Mississippi, yesterday urged the calling of an extra session of Congress in October to consider flood control.

He said that rather than call just the Senate into session to settle the Illinois and Pennsylvania senatorial contests, both the Senate and House should be assembled to take up flood control.

THEATERS TO CLOSE IN LOEW'S MEMORY

In respect to the memory of Marcus Loew, dead film magnate, all of the Stanley Co. of America's theaters throughout the United States will remain closed today until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. As a further token of respect, orchestras and organs in every Stanley theater at the opening of the season will play "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "The Buffalo Hunt," which had been Mr. Loew's favorite hymn since he heard it at the time of President McKinley's funeral.

All studios and exchanges in the United States will observe the occasion by ceasing all operations for five minutes at 2 o'clock, daylight saving time. Local theaters will stop their performances at 1 o'clock for a five-minute period.

RAIL COMPETITION DEPLORED BY EXPERT

Tells Rotary Club Motor and Airplane Service Should Be Supplemented.

Motor car and airplane transportation should be supplemental and not competitive to the great producer of mass transportation—the railroads.

John M. Fitzgerald, railroad expert of New York, declared yesterday at the luncheon of the Washington Rotary Club.

Within certain limits motor car and airplane transportation are economic and efficient, but beyond that limit it is a duplication of service and a waste to the public, he stated. Although bus service has taken business from the railroads, it has given more than it has taken, he declared.

Gabriel claimed $2,000 was owed
